

Who are we

JMAR Contracting offers waterproofing solutions for construction, civil and residential applications. We offer a dedicated waterproofing service and pride ourselves on superior workmanship using superior products.

Owned and operated by Jason Margetic since 2009, JMAR Contracting has established a reputation for precision, excellence in service and advice on a diverse range of challenging projects.

JMAR offers waterproofing protection solutions for new structures and builds, ensuring the structural integrity of assets for their lifetime, and protecting our clients' investments for the long term.

JMAR also provides expert investigation and solutions for existing structures with waterproofing problems. Through our detailed examination of the problem and access to superior, specialised products, we have solutions for the most challenging of waterproofing problems.

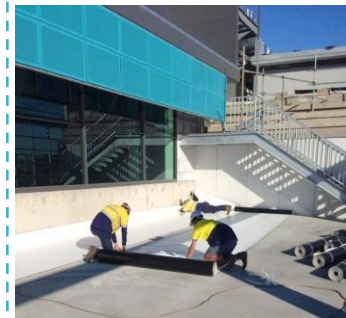

From underground wine cellars, to rooftop gardens, car parks, swimming pools and arenas, JMAR Contracting delivers exceptional waterproofing capability and designs fit-for-purpose waterproofing solutions for our clients. Jason was recognised as Dale Alcock Home Improvement's Contractor of the Year in 2013.
